

Dayton Ward

Dayton is the author of several short stories in various genres as well as the science fiction novels The Last World War and The Genesis Protocol and the Star Trek novel In the Name of Honor. Dayton also has collaborated with friend and co-writer Kevin Dilmore on ten installments of Pocket Books™ monthly e-Book series Star Trek: Corps of Engineers, the short story Enemy Unknown! for the Rocket League role-playing game, three novels for various Star Trek series, and short stories for the Star Trek anthologies Tales of the Dominion War, Constellations, and The Sky's the Limit. His latest collaboration with Kevin is Wet Work, a novel based on the USA series The 4400, due out in November. Though he currently lives in Kansas City with wife Michi and daughters Addison and Erin, Dayton is a Florida native and still maintains a torrid long-distance romance with his beloved Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Visit him on the web at www.daytonward.com.