

Frank Smith

Having been reared in the 'Space Age' and weaned on SciFi/Fantasy, Frank has a keen interest in technology and a fervent desire to go to space. He founded the LiftPort Ambassadors and is an active member of the KC Space Pirates for whom he leads software development. He is frequently called by his Marine son to settle an argument in the barracks which may be as diverse as "Do pineapples grow on trees?" or "Can cars really run on 85% alcohol?". Frank is a frequent panelist at Midwest SciFi conventions including several at the Heinlein Centennial.
